

Although most of our legal advice and representation is provided by way of an hourly engagement, we offer all the following arrangements depending on the circumstances. Contact us for more info.

1

Hourly engagements

Available in all matters. Students and new calls can inquire about discounted rates. A retainer deposit will typically be required in trust before work can begin on the matter.

2

Initial (or one-time) consultation

For summary advice on professionalism questions or preliminary guidance on responding to a complaint. Includes a one-hour meeting and 15 minutes of reviewing relevant documents. Click here to book.

3

Fixed-fee appeal opinion

An objective assessment of the merits of a potential appeal, as well as summary advice on the applicable procedure and standard of review. Also includes a meeting to discuss questions or next steps.

4

Partial contingency

In some appeal retainers, clients can pay a discounted hourly rate or a fixed fee on the basis that a further “success premium” will be payable only if we achieve a positive outcome on appeal.

Advice retainer for law firms

On a monthly subscription plan or an ad hoc hourly basis, Brooke can help law firms address legal ethics questions as they arise and help implement best practices to avoid conduct issues in the future.
